

Save The Date

Working Lands and Conservation Community Meeting
Chehalis, Washington
November 1-2, 2018

Please Save The Date for this unique two-day event.

The purpose of this event is to:

- Enjoy a half-day walking tour of a local family tree farm, sharing the values, perspectives and challenges associated with managing working lands in SW Washington.
- Participate in a one-day community meeting at Chehalis Veteran's Memorial Museum to:
 - Share perspectives on the natural resource, cultural, and economic values in the region and challenges the region faces.
 - Share current and emerging threats to working lands and wildlife conservation efforts in SW Washington.
 - Explore ways to help landowners achieve their goals while supporting wildlife connectivity in the region.
 - Inform development of a strategy for the region that supports both land management goals of people and connectivity for wildlife.

To register for the workshop, click here: <https://bit.ly/2QbhDvZ>

This event is being hosted by the many organizations and stakeholders in SW Washington that seek to advance individual and community goals and interests while considering the conservation needs of native fish and wildlife.